TOPIC: Flood Insurance

OUTREACH ACTIVITIES

EXAMPLE 1

Work with local insurance agents, realtors and lenders to distribute brochures about flood insurance in their offices.

FEMA has multiple brochures that can be ordered for free. These take about four to six weeks to arrive, so make sure you place your order early.

EXAMPLE 2

Share information with local insurance agents about agent-specific resources related to flood insurance.

Let them know about FEMA's agent-specific resources at agents.floodsmart.gov.

EXAMPLE 3

Educate residents that anywhere it can rain, it can flood, and flood insurance is financial protection. Anyone in a National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) participating community can purchase NFIP flood insurance. This includes homeowners, renters and businesses.

Share information about flood insurance through social media and your website, host an open house, put brochures out in community buildings, etc. FEMA has information and resources available at www.floodsmart.gov.

TOPIC: Safety and Preparedness

EXAMPLE 1

Facilitate a workshop in your community about how to prepare for flooding. Work with your emergency manager to share information about preparing for floods, creating go-bags, evacuation plans, etc.

Check Ready.gov/floods for more ideas.

EXAMPLE 2

Use the Turn Around, Don't Drown® phrase to educate your community of the dangers of driving through flooded roads.

This might be accomplished by sharing through social media or your community website, or hosting a workshop. Consider hosting a training for your coworkers or through a driver's education program. It only takes 12 inches of water to float away most cars.

View National Weather Service's policy for using the phrase, as well as videos and print materials.

EXAMPLE 3

What's the difference?

It can be confusing to keep up with all the different weather alerts. Make sure your community knows what each means and what actions to take.

The National Weather Service provides language you can use.
